

Chloe Swarbrick

2008-2011

Chloe Swarbrick has a very inspiring way of tackling her goals. She figures out where she wants to be and works backwards, establishing the steps required. After obtaining a BA in philosophy and an LLB, Swarbrick's path towards her political career has involved working in journalism, running events and even starting her own businesses. Her phenomenal campaign for mayor in 2016 caught the eye of many and she has now successfully become a member of the Green Party Aotearoa.

Her advice to current EGGS girls is to "remember that failure at some point is inevitable, and the measure of a person is how you pick yourself up, dust yourself off, and get back on the horse."

Chloe is just at the beginning of achieving her goals. She aims to end chronic homelessness. She believes it's not something she can achieve as an individual or without governmental support and resource, but she is passionate about it and will do her best to make it happen.

"Don't let anybody else define you. You probably won't figure out who you are or who you want to be for a while yet, so focus on what you want to achieve."
