

Kylie Clegg (Foy)

1985-1989

Kylie Clegg has loved sport ever since she was a child, and at 13 years old, she picked up a hockey stick and has never looked back. Kylie feels very fortunate to have had three hugely influential hockey coaches whilst at Epsom Girls Grammar School who gave her a great foundation based on work ethic and having fun.

Kylie's great successes include leading the Black Sticks Women at the 2000 Sydney Olympics. Although the team didn't come away with a medal, the experience has given Kylie many other incredible opportunities such as chairing the New Zealand Olympic Committee's Athletes' Commission, and being on various boards such as Hockey New Zealand.

"Find something you are passionate about, dream big and go for it. Try new things and learn from your mistakes. Put in the hard yards and enjoy the ride."
